Five Sections of D&H Canal Designated Historic Points

By JEAN F. DOLAN

Five sections of the old Delaware and Hudson Canal including two in Ulster County have been declared National Historic Landmarks by the U. S. Department of the Interior.

Mrs. Virginia Smiley, a trustee of the D&H Canal Historical Society and chairman of its preservation committee, yesterday received official confirmation of the national designation.

Ulster County sections of the canal to come into national prominence are the five locks at High Falls and the 5,000 feet of towpath along the only remaining water-filled section in Allgerville.

Other sections to be marked are the Cuddebackville portion in Orange County, the Roebling aqueduct at the Delaware crossing and a site at Honesdale, Pa., starting point of the 108 mile route from coal fields to tidewater at Rondout.

To Get Marker

The sections specified as National Historic Landmarks will be designated by a brass plaque and will be listed in the federal registry of landmarks. They will be worthy of mention in various publications and informational releases made by the Interior Department.

Much more important, however, is the protection and prestige which goes with the national recognition of the canal remnants' historic worth. Mrs. Smiley noted that as National Historic Landmarks, the sites will be protected from future encroachment of highways and building projects.

The sites must be restored and maintained by a "responsible organization." The D&H Canal Historical Society will serve in this capacity for the Ulster County sections.

As a matter of fact the canal society has done much to lead to the landmark designation and is presently working on clean-up and restoration of the five locks under lease from the High Falls Fire Commissioners.

Conservationist magazine article detailing the colorful history of the early economic lifeline and the possibilities of its use as a modern recreational reminder of the past.

The society has long sought to preserve and restore the remaining Ulster County sections of the historic waterway which meant much to the early economy of the area. Representatives have appeared before planning boards in towns along the route, urging incorporation of canal remnants in park and recreation plans. The possibilities of creating picnic sites and nature walks along existing locks and towpaths have been explored with town officials.

Things to Come

An even more ambitious plan for a county recreational area in the Allgerville section was put forth by Ross in a meeting with the Ulster County Planning Board earlier this year.

The first group to tour the sites since the designation are third graders from Kerhonkson Elementary School. They will make the trip to Peter Davis Basin in Allgerville, High Falls locks, the canal society museum in Stone Ridge and the LeFevre Falls ice caves as part of their study of the canal. Background information was given at the school by Ross yesterday.

Much of the current development was made possible through leasing arrangements with the High Falls Fire Commissioners for the five locks in that community. The lease, recently negotiated, is for 25 years.

Special

Canal Society trustees have authorized $500 for initial work on three of the locks under the direction of Paul M. Sturges. Grover Smith of High Falls is contractor and the Suple Lumber Company of High Falls is preparing estimates for foot bridges to be constructed over the locks. The bridges which will afford visitors a better view of the canal will be in the manner of the old lock tender bridges to add to the authenticity of the appearance.

July Tour

Much of the groundwork for both the national recognition and the eventual restoration has been carried out by Donald G. Ross, president of the society. He and other D&H Society officials conducted the Interior Department representative, John McDermott, through areas of interest during a tour July 11.

Hanoi Says U.S. Bombs Again

By LOREN JENKINS

PARIS (UPI)—North Vietnam said today U.S. warplanes had attacked North Vietnamese territory with bombs and rockets in violation of President Johnson's bombing halt.

Says Protests Ignored

North Vietnamese spokesman Nguyen Thanh Le told a news conference the United States also ignored a series of direct protests lodged with the American delegation to the Paris talks.

Le said the air attacks were "a flagrant violation of President Johnson's Oct. 31 statement stopping the air strikes on North Vietnam."

Le said two air attacks took place Friday. He said at 10:30 a.m. Hanoi time U.S. planes carried out a rocket attack in Nghe An province where a U.S. reconnaissance plane was shot down by North Vietnamese gunners.

He said at 1:30 p.m. Hanoi time other American planes dropped bombs in Quang Binh province where another reconnaissance plane was downed.

Le's statements did not jibe with reports from Saigon.

American spokesmen reported a reconnaissance plane, a Phantom jet, shot down Saturday near Dong Hoi, 50 miles north of the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ), the first such loss since the bombing halt.

Allied troops invaded the demilitarized zone separating North and South Vietnam for the first time since President Johnson's decision to halt the bombing of the north. Story Page 20.

Two planes were shot down Monday in separate incidents and U.S. planes carried out bombing and strafing missions against anti-aircraft guns firing at rescue planes. The North Vietnamese also used Surface-to-Air (SAM) missiles and MIG jets against the American planes.

Whether the North Vietnamese charges would affect the start of the expanded peace talks was not immediately known. Most diplomatic sources had predicted the talks would start immediately with the arrival of a Saigon representative.

And with the talks expected to start shortly Communist China suddenly announced it wants to resume diplomatic talks with the United States.

A Peking Radio broadcast heard in Tokyo said the Chinese Communists have agreed to meet American diplomats in Warsaw on Feb. 20.

From 1955 until last January the United States and the Peking regime held periodic talks in the Polish capital. The State Department said Nov. 18 it had been seeking renewed contacts, with Feb. 20 as the last suggested date.

Quoting a New China News Agency dispatch, Peking Radio said that by February "the new U.S. President will have been in office a month and the U.S. side will probably be able to make up its mind."

A Warning, Too

It warned that the Warsaw talks—which Washington has designed to keep alive hopes of improved relations with Peking—will come to nothing "no matter which administration assumes office in the United States" unless the Americans agree to stop protecting the island of Taiwan.

There was no specific reason given for Peking's sudden interest in fresh contacts with the United States. But diplomatic observers said the timing was vital.

Communist diplomats have reported Peking's stiff opposition to North Vietnam and the Viet Cong entering into war negotiations with the United States and South Vietnam. It wants the Vietnamese Communists to fight their battle in the field; the Soviet Union has urged Hanoi to negotiate, however, the diplomats said.

Resumption of the Warsaw talks would give the Peking rulers a direct line to the non-Communist side of the Vietnam negotiations.

No Enthusiasm

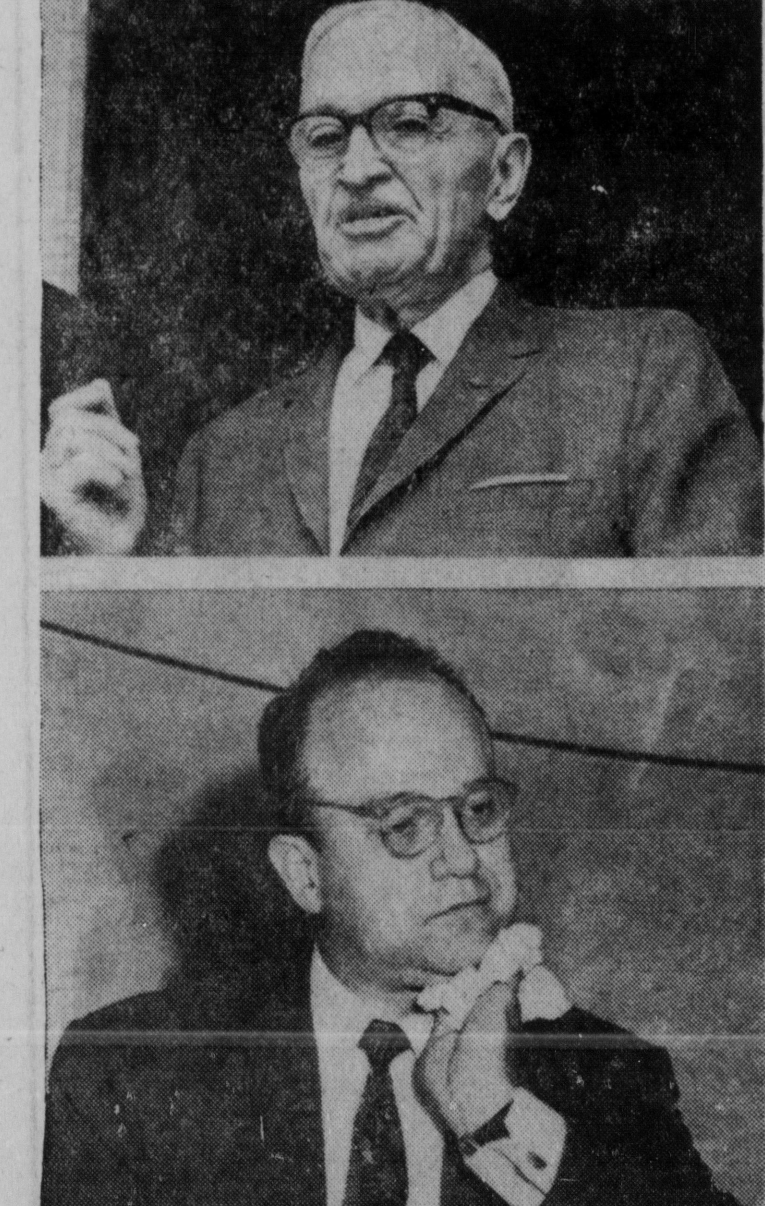

Diplomatic reports said the Paris talks were expected to open late this week or early next week with Saigon finally agreeing to attend.

The Peking broadcast, as usual, showed no enthusiasm about the U.S. contacts. It said the Peking charge in Warsaw, Chen Tung, had written U.S. ambassador to Poland Walter J. Stoessel Jr. "that the two sides might as well meet on Feb. 20 next year."

Diplomatic sources in Washington, Saigon and Paris said South Vietnam's President Nguyen Van Thieu is on the verge of announcing the end of his boycott of the talks with the Viet Cong, North Vietnam and the United States.

In Washington, UPI diplomatic reporter Stewart Hensley said only a last minute hitch was believed able to prevent the talks opening here late this week or, possibly, early next week.

SURVEY: Sales Levy Still Alive

By ALBERT J. CAWEIN

Despite a show of strength this week in opposition to a county-wide sales tax, a survey of County Legislators indicates that a majority favors the special levy.

Clarence Raichle, R-Kingston, chairman of the Tax Base Study Committee in a statement today took exception to remarks made by several county legislators this past week and said a survey of the legislators indicated that a majority favored a county-wide sales levy, if the money derived from the tax will be allocated to the reduction of real property taxes only.

The Tax Base Study Committee which met Monday night discussed various statements made during the past week in regard to opposition to the sales levy and again filed a unanimous recommendation that steps be taken immediately to implement a 3 per cent county sales tax.

Several arguments were presented at last night's session in favor of the levy on sales. As responsible elected officials of county government, the legislators felt they could not be so short-sighted as to think in terms of reducing the county budget for next year only but must project their fiscal thinking beyond.

It was noted that the county employee's salaries will increase at the rate of 6 1/2 per cent per year and the cost of supplies and materials can only go up in the future.

A vitally important consideration noted by the committee members was the possibility of the state increasing its 2 per cent levy some time next year. This, in effect, would prevent the county from adopting a tax at a later date. The limit for sales taxes is 5 per cent. The City of Kingston has had a 2 per cent sales tax since March.

The committee noted that new capital construction mandated by the state will include a new county infirmary at a cost of $4.2 million and a new county jail to cost in excess of $2 million.

The committee also noted other areas in which large sums will be expended including expansion of the community college, improved services for residents of the county and increased welfare costs.

A great portion of the sales tax would come from out-of-county sources because of the resort business in the county and its gasoline service stations and Hot Shoppes restaurant on the Thruway. This important factor was also discussed by the committee which made its position clear several times. The committee has said that the real property owner can no longer bear the ever-increasing costs of government.

The committee headed by Raichle includes Legislators Melvin Mones, R-Kingston; Orrie Riehl, D-Kingston; Richard D. Nace, R-2nd District; C. Freeman Lasher, R-Saugerties; Ernest J. Gardner and Philip H. Davis, both Republicans.

Schneller Questions the 'Need' For New Ulster County Airport

By LYNN MULVANEY

Hurley Supervisor Robert Schneller, whose town is being considered as a site for the proposed Ulster County Airport, took issue last night with the fact that he and the Hurley Town Board had not been consulted on the matter.

Schneller, presiding at a town board meeting said he had received numerous telephone calls informing him of the fact that survey work was being done on the top of Hurley Mountain, at the direction of the airport commission.

He questioned further, the "need" for an airport in Ulster County and suggested instead that the county consider joining with Orange and Poughkeepsie to combine efforts and build an airport facility to service Kingston, Newburgh and Poughkeepsie.

Schneller suggested New Paltz as a possible site.

He also thought consideration might be given to locating an airport at the east end of the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge to service northern Dutchess, Ulster and Columbia Counties.

Schneller, who personally questioned whether the commission had established "need" for a new airport, said he would ask the commission to explain how the funds for the study are being spent. He said he was interested to know what percentage is going toward a needs study and what percentage toward finding sites.

Saying he feels there is a "complete lack of breakdown" between the state, county and town planning groups, Schneller advocated a meeting be called to which the Hurley Town Board, Zoning Board, Second District legislators, county planning board and airport commission be invited.

The Hurley supervisor questioned the use of the mountain top for an airport, citing the fact that lands to the north and west were undevelopable.

A Kingston Freeman story on Nov. 4 stated that a tight lid of security had been placed on the airport commission's selection of a final site, ostensibly to avoid land speculation that could drive the cost of the project beyond reality.

The Freeman learned at that time that the commission, headed by Harry Kaprelian, had presented its site selections to the Ulster County Planning Board, Sept. 23.

However neither Harry Kaprelian or Herbert K. Hekler, executive director of the planning board would comment on the sites. At that time it was ascertained that the commission was down to two sites, both near Kingston, and one of them may be in the Hurley Mountain area.

Kaprelian's commission, the Nov. 4 article states, has already spent $16,500 on a study of eight possible sites: Marbletown, Ohioville, High Falls, Libertyville, Springtown, East Kingston, Galesville and Hurley.

The article states further that the planning board has neither approved or disapproved the sites. Hekler added that his board had no design on either the Hurley or Kingston site.

In other business, the Hurley Town Board tabled a vote on the proposed zoning ordinance until an executive meeting is called Dec. 6. The delay is intended in order that further study be given the matter.

PLAN SEASON — "Let's Talk Tri-Mount" was the subject of the annual supper meeting of the Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America, held last night in the St. James United Methodist Church. Kicking off the 1969 season, the scout officials disclosed plans for the summer camping season that is expected to have a record number of scouts visiting Camp Tri-Mount for a week or more each. Henry Eighmey (L), Council Camping Chairman; Kenneth P. Pangburn, Council president and Alexander MacDonald, Council Executive, discuss plans at the supper meeting that also featured a spaghetti and meatball meal. The Scout Council's camp is scheduled to open June 6 and will be open for six camping periods, through Aug. 17. Camping information kits were distributed to the leaders present at the supper meeting. The kits contained valuable information for new and experienced leaders alike. All scoutmasters, troop committee chairmen and commissioners of the council were invited to take part in the annual event. (Freeman photo by Kruh)

Mayone to Kingston GOP Club: 'I'll Fight Any Ouster Move'

By HUGH REYNOLDS

"I will fight any move to get me out as city chairman," John R. Mayone, leader of the Kingston Republican Committee said last night at a meeting of the city Republican Club.

Mayone was the guest speaker at the meeting which saw the election of a slate of officers for the Kingston Republican Club. He discussed the recent aldermanic elections saw the Democrats pick up 12 out of 13 seats and blamed it on the "deterioration of the Republican party in Kingston over the past few years." Mayone had one word on the results of that alleged deterioration, "ouch."

Burns Elected

In the elections for officers in 1969, Richard Burns and Victor Locke won handily. Burns polled 17 votes for president against two each for Tony Sinagra and Burton Davis.

In the race for vice-president, the original candidates were Titus Sims and William Krum. However, Krum was not at the meeting and his wife asked that his name be withdrawn. Sinagra's name was then suggested for vice-president. Burns then nominated Locke and Sinagra threw his support to him. The final result was Locke, 17, Sims 4.

The elections of the treasurer (Ethel Lowe) and the secretary (Angelina Carputo) were ruled unanimous. Mrs. John R. Mayone was the installing officer.

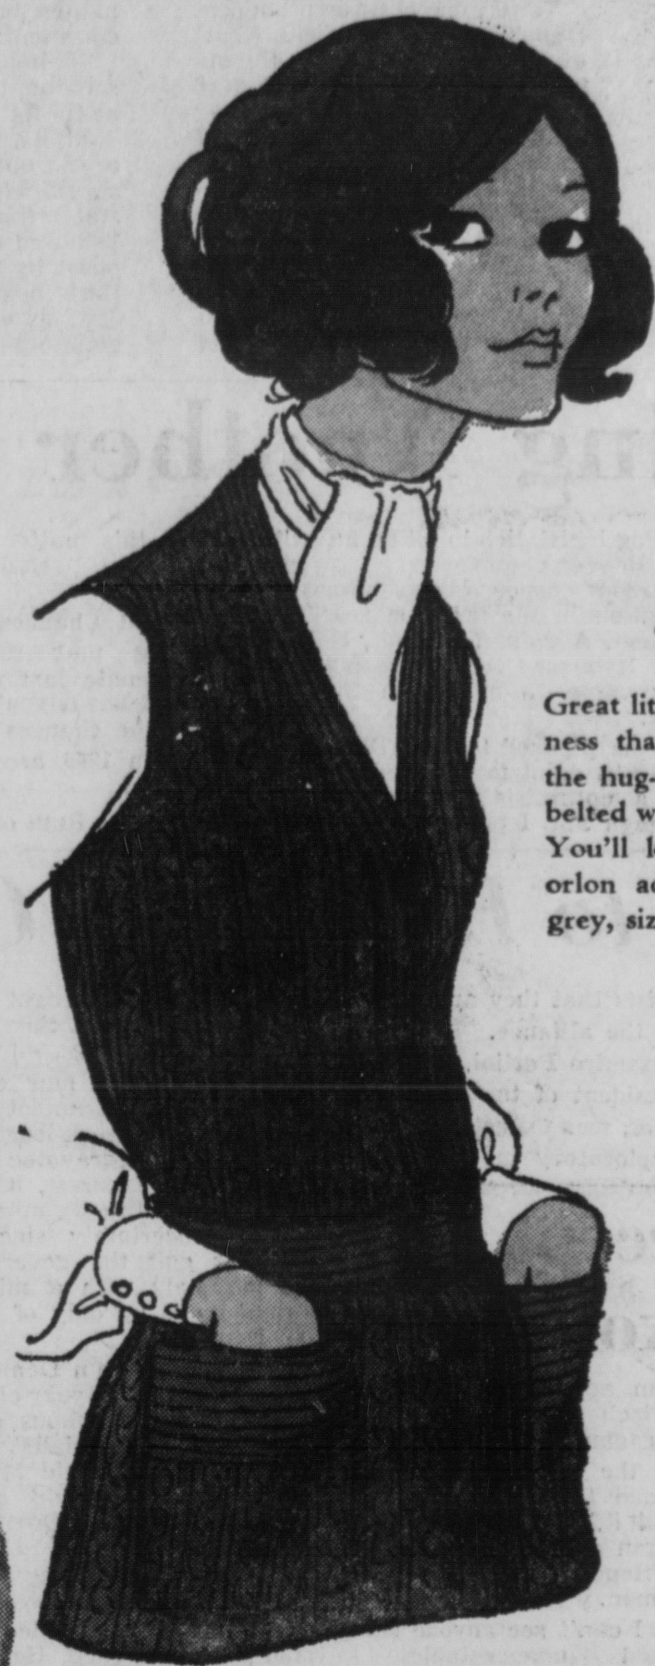

More on It Next Week

Her husband John, in his brief address to the 25 persons gathered, declined to go into details on the Democratic win three weeks ago but said that the whole issue would be discussed "on a ward by ward basis, a street by street basis," at the Republican city committee meeting next Monday night at the county office building.

Mayone spoke of the pressure that has been applied on him to resign, saying, "Not one person has given the second step. Mayone should resign and then what? What are the alternatives? My resigning in itself is not going to cure the ills of this party."

Said Mayone, "The Republican Party has allowed its internal struggles to affect its ability to wage effective campaigns against the common enemy, the Democrats."

Mayone concluded with, "I know how Allie Sherman (head coach of the New York Giants football team) feels. But it'll take more than goodbye Johnny to get rid of me. The

On Cabinet Appointments

Nixon Continues Closed-Door Meetings

NEW YORK (AP) — President-elect Richard M. Nixon, continuing closed-door meetings with advisors and prominent Republican officeholders, apparently has just about made up his mind on some Cabinet appointments.

Although Nixon has said he'll make known no Cabinet choices before Dec. 6, GOP Sen. John G. Tower of Texas emerged from a Monday conference with the President-elect and acknowledged they'd talked about possible Cabinet selections, Democrats as well as Republicans.

No Final Decisions
Asked if it would be accurate to say Nixon has not yet decided on any Cabinet nominees, Tower carefully responded that Nixon indicated no final decisions to him—leaving wide open the suggestion that the incoming chief executive has privately reached, or is very close to, some final choices.

Tower, one of three prominent Republicans to meet with Nixon during the day, gave a thumbnail description of the kind of Cabinet he believes is being sought by Nixon: "People of great professional competence" whose ideas are not incompatible with those of the President-elect and who have an ability to implement those ideas.

The Texas senator said Nixon would like "geographical balance" in the Cabinet but would not sacrifice other considerations to parceling out appointments on a regional basis.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits of New York was another visitor who acknowledged talking to Nixon about specific jobs and specific possible officeholders. Like Tower, he wouldn't mention any names but offered this teasing comment:

"I happen to be the senior senator from a state with an awful lot of talent."

Javits, recently returned from a European tour, said Nixon specifically authorized him to state that the President-elect "showed an interest in" a proposal by the senator that if the Paris peace talks continue after Jan. 20, one of the two U.S. negotiators—W. Averell Harriman or Cyrus Vance—be retained by the new administration to provide continuity.

"The President-elect authorized me to report that he showed an interest in the question of continuity," said Javits, who added that the future President has made no decision on the matter.

Javits talked to Harriman and Vance while in Paris and said they are pushing their peace quest "without waiting for the new administration."

Interested in Peace

He said he found Europeans deeply interested in the achievement of a Vietnam peace. In response to a question, he said they are primarily interested in peace without consideration to the kind of settlement that might evolve.

Gov. James A. Rhodes of Ohio and the state's Republican chairman, John S. Andrews, talked to Nixon about prospective federal programs, including questions of bloc tax grants to the states and a major overhaul of the federal welfare program.

Rhodes, whose term as governor expires in 1971, told newsmen: "I'm not a candidate for any job. I have not applied and I will not apply. I will serve out my term."

Later, he talked about the need for the job to seek the man, which seemed to keep him still in the running for a possible high position in the Nixon administration.

Seeking Another Hoover Commission

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Republican members of Congress say they'll seek Nixon administration backing for efforts to streamline what one calls the "bureaucratic thicket" of federal government.

Sen. James B. Pearson of Kansas said Monday he planned to reintroduce early in January enabling legislation to set up another Hoover commission.

Pearson cosponsored similar legislation in the last Congress with Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn. It passed the Senate but never came to a vote in the House.

"I was pleased to hear Richard Nixon point to the need for such a commission during the campaign and I plan to consult with him on this matter at the appropriate time," said Pearson, in an interview.

Excellent Chances

"Considering that the bill passed the Senate last session and in view of Mr. Nixon's attitude I think the chances for final passage in 1969 are excellent," he said.

Rep. William V. Roth of Delaware said Monday he has spoken to Nixon about his own efforts in a similar vein and "Nixon said he is with me all the way."

Roth spent months trying to catalogue the number and variety of various grant-in-aid and other federal assistance programs and ran into a series of roadblocks by various agencies. Roth said there are such a bewildering variety of federal aid programs that even congressmen have difficulty determining what is available.

Pearson said the last Hoover Commission, 13 years ago, led to modifications of the executive branch resulting in savings of $7 billion.

The commission Pearson referred to was the second such panel headed by former President Herbert Hoover. The first functioned from 1947 to 1949.

Together they suggested a massive reorganization of the federal government, submitting 587 recommendations for change of which 396 were adopted by Congress or the executive branch.

Among the major results were the Military Unification Act of 1949 and the Defense Reorganization Act of 1958, complete internal reorganization of the State Department, creation of the 10th federal agency—Health, Education and Welfare—and adoption of a new, business-type system of federal budgeting.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower suggested during his second term that there was a need for another massive attention to cellular exploration of the federal government structure. But there has been nothing like the Hoover Commissions since 1955.

Must Begin Now

"If the quality of American life is to be preserved, we must begin now to examine the bureaucratic thicket that has sprung up in the last 13 years," Pearson said.

Pearson said the field of grant-in-aid programs is "a prime example of what can happen when project growth is loosely controlled."

He said "in April 1964 there were approximately 239 such programs. Today there are over 400. And the administration predicted that these programs may quadruple in five years."

Pearson said 70 departments and agencies report directly to the president—"far in excess of any reasonable span of executive control."

Still another example of the need for reform, said Pearson, is that "at present there are approximately 33 federal agencies engaged in 296 consumer protection activities."

Rumor Set to Head New Government

ROME (AP) — The way appeared clear today for Mariano Rumor, secretary of the Christian Democratic party, to head a new center-left government following announcement by the Socialists that they are ready to renew the alliance.

Alessandro Pertini, the Socialist president of the chamber of deputies, was expected to return the exploratory mandate President Giuseppe Saragat gave him Sunday Saragat then would turn to Rumor.

Formation of a new center-left majority government would not only end a week-long crisis that has been aggravated by labor and student unrest. It would promise an end to six months of political uncertainty since the Socialists quit the government and left Italy with a minority regime made up only of Christian Democrats.

The Christian Democrats have announced 53-year-old Rumor as their unanimous choice for premier, and Socialist secretary Mauro Ferri said Monday night his party would accept anyone the Christian Democrats chose.

Italy was left without even a minority government last week when caretaker premier Giovanni Leone resigned. He did it to try to force a revival of the center-left coalition, but instead it caused a power struggle in-the Christian Democratic party between Rumor and former Premier Aldo Moro.

Moro announced he was quitting the party's majority, and Rumor then resigned with the directorate of the party. After three days of talks, the Christian Democrats rejected Rumor's resignation and united to back his bid to lead a new government.

The victory was no major triumph for Rumor. He was forced to abandon his plan to remain head of the party machinery while giving the premiership to one of his close allies, Treasury Minister Emilio Colombo.

Moro and other party leaders opposed this because it would have given Rumor's faction control of both the government and the party machinery. There was no indication, however, who would succeed Rumor as party secretary. Moro's faction is slightly to the left of Rumor's.

Finch Will Accept Post With Nixon If ---

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — California Lt. Gov. Robert H. Finch's entrance into a top job in President-elect Richard M. Nixon's administration is being delayed because he and Gov. Ronald Reagan haven't agreed on his successor, sources close to both men indicated today.

Finch's friends said he has been offered a Cabinet job and wants to accept it—if he and Reagan can get together on a new No. 2 man for the California state government. Finch, who ran Nixon's 1960 presidential campaign, is one of the President-elect's closest advisers.

Reagan, one source said, has put forth several names—none of them acceptable to Finch—and Finch has offered names that Reagan can't accept.

"It's the governor's appointment and the governor has to live with it," said Thomas Reed, a Reagan adviser and the California Republican national committeeman.

"But I can't see anyone being appointed unacceptable to Finch," he said. He predicted an amicable settlement.

Reagan is considered more conservative than Finch, and his political supporters generally belong to the California party's conservative wing.

Finch, who polled more votes than Reagan when both were elected in 1966, has said he wants to run for political office in California in the future, preferably for the U.S. Senate seat now held by Republican George Murphy.

But Murphy reportedly has told Finch he will seek another term in 1970—and Finch isn't likely to shatter party unity by challenging him in a primary.

Hold Hearing On the Capital Punishment Law

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — The State Senate's codes committee heard conflicting testimony Monday on the advisability of restoring capital punishment in New York State.

At the second of a series of public hearings the committee heard David Folk, a member of the Monroe County Conservative Party, call the death penalty a weapon the law may use to deter crime and properly punish those convicted.

The Rev. Dr. Conrad H. Massa, chairman of Christian Social Relations for the Rochester Area Council of Churches said the poor are more likely to be executed under capital punishment than the rich.

"Studies have shown that people with plenty of money are able to appeal and appeal. Very seldom is a person of means executed," he said.

About 50 persons testified before the committee, chaired by Sen. Edward J. Speno, R-Mincola, on the issues of liability of parents for vandalism committed by their children, fixed sentences for second offenders committing certain serious crimes, as well as capital punishment.

The final hearing by the committee will be held in Buffalo next month.

Wallkill Siamese Twin Calves—Odds in the Astronomical Class

By SHANE CROSBY

WALLKILL—Get out the old abacus and check the odds on this one, folks. And while you're at it, pour yourself a glass of milk, you may need it.

The birth of siamese twins in humans is rare indeed, but consider the odds on the birth of siamese twin calves when cows rarely have even twins.

Scratch for Figures

Scratching their heads, the Cooperative Extension Service people in Kingston could not come up with any figures.

Robert Guzewich of the service said "common twins" could be expected to be born in about four to five per cent of the cases a year. Siamese twins, he said would fall into the astronomical odds class. He said he had never heard of such a case before this one.

"I've never seen it happen before and I don't expect to see it again in my life," said the veterinarian after hearing about the siamese twin case of his assistant's last week.

The "never before-never again" comment came from Walden Veterinarian Dr. Robert A. Moore when told his assistant—fresh out of Cornell University—had attended at the birth of siamese twin Holstein-Black angus calves on the farm of Edward Ashcroft in this community.

Dead at Birth

The two calves dead at birth, were joined from the naval to the pelvic region and were complete with two heads and eight legs. Their mother, a 1,300 pound registered holstein, is reported doing fine after the ordeal and is given an 80-20 chance of survival.

The rare birth was attended by Dr. Robert Wattie who performed an operation on the animal and was in attendance

Special

Thursday from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m.

The calves were well-formed except for the hind legs, said Dr. Moore. Had they survived the birth they might have been kept alive "for a short while." He said they would have to have been kept in an artificial atmosphere. He added that their internal organs would most likely be found to be either common or malformed.

The remains are reported to have been donated to the Wallkill High School where students and teachers will be given the rare opportunity of investigating the siamese case.

The opportunity to work on the remains is indeed a rare one for any biology student and especially rare for one heading into the livestock business.

Ashcroft, a 1951 graduate of Kingston High School, owner of 55 head on his farm, said he has seen the birth of about 50 head a year, but never anything like this.

Dr. Moore, a veterinarian for more than 16 years and who has seen the birth of more than 1,000 calves, said he had never seen nor heard of any such case outside of college or textbooks.

Cornell Graduate

Young Dr. Wattie, a 1968 graduate of Cornell, was not available but his superior said Wattie had seen a good number of births in his time on farms and in college, never running into this problem.

The closest Dr. Moore said he came to siamese was a case of a two headed calf and one where small parts of three other calves were found in a calf at birth.

Multiple births among cattle are rare, he said, most having only one calf a year.

This was the first birth for the Ashcroft cow, who was mated with a black angus.

A former Kingston resident, Ashcroft farmed in Rifton and New Paltz before taking the dairy farm in Wallkill.

Barker's Newest Store Offers Paltz Area Shopping, Jobs

By CHARLES BERMPHOHL

NEW PALTZ — The giant Barker's Department Store opened in this southern tier township on Monday.

Employing some 300 people, the store contains 70 different departments spread over 60,000 square feet of floor space.

This is the first store to open in the new Simmons Plaza.

According to developer Austin Simmons, "We are hoping that the Victory Supermarket will open on the first of the year."

Also Bank, Theater

The plaza will also contain a bank and a movie theater.

Barker's store manager Samuel Pearlstein said that the organization began hiring on Nov. 6 and that the Kingston office of the New York State Employment Service "supplied about half of our personnel."

Pearlstein claimed that smaller store owners will profit by the big store's existence.

"When we opened a branch in Fishkill, a lot of local merchants were scared to death, but we increased the traffic," he said.

Pearlstein also said that "When we don't have the product, we always direct the customer to a local store owner."

He said that the existence of small specialty stores next to Gimble's and Macy's in New York City proves that such stores can prosper by the increased trade the area draws.

Barker's is a division of Franklin Stores Inc. which is spread throughout the country and into Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

"Franklin Stores have been on the New York Stock Exchange for 50 years," he said. "We're not newcomers."

Franklin Stores, which began about 80 years ago, according to Pearlstein, has "about 200 stores."

"The Barker's unit began 12 years ago in Connecticut," he said.

The difference between the two units, the manager asserted, rested in the fact that Franklin geared itself primarily towards women and children.

Pearlstein said that Barker's "satisfies a minimum of 80 per cent of the average household needs."

The store will have an additional building attached to it which will be the auto service center.

Included among the departments are camera, radio and phonograph, record, book, greeting card, auto, appliance and gardening supplies centers.

Manager Pearlstein said that it took "two weeks to set up the store."

Most of the store's personnel was drawn from the Kingston and New Paltz area except for the "top management."

Tied to Community Life
The manager said that whenever Barker's moves into a community "it involves itself with the community life," and he went on to state that he, helped organize the Bedford Hills Chamber of Commerce.

Pearlstein was also honored in Dutchess County for his community service.

There was a party Sunday night at Reggie's Inn in New Paltz where county and town officials welcomed Barker's management.

The party, given by Simmons began with a conducted tour of the new store.

7 Have Court Date Dec. 18 On Drug-Smuggling Charge

Indicted by an Ulster County grand jury on charges of bribery and conspiracy in connection with an alleged attempt to have dangerous drugs delivered to two inmates at the Catskill Reformatory at Napanoch, the cases of seven defendants have been scheduled in County Court for Dec. 18 at 11 a. m.

Assistant District Attorney Philip W. Schunk recently brought the cases before County Judge Raymond J. Mino, who set the adjourned date for motions to the indictment by defense counsel.

John Grassia and Stephen Borriello, formerly of New York City, were returned to the reformatory after entering pleas of innocent to the indictment.

The other defendants were identified in the indictments as Patsy Borriello, 62, and his wife, Raffaello, 51, of 424 Clinton Avenue, Brooklyn; their son and daughter, Bartholomew, 24, of 552 East 83rd Street, Brooklyn, and Helen K. Borriello, 25, of the Clinton Avenue address; and a family friend, Antoinette (Toni) D. Curcuro, 18, of 65 First Place, Brooklyn.

According to authorities, an attempt was made to bribe Norman Zelinski, a guard at the reformatory, by paying him $50 in the alleged move to deliver marijuana to inmates. Zelinski, it was reported, immediately brought the plan to the attention to the warden, who called in State Police BCI officers and the investigation was launched.

A well-planned move by State Police was carried out early last July, when five of the defendants were tracked down as their car was pulling from exit 122 of the Quickway near Middletown, and the accused were taken into custody and subsequently indicted.

School Offices Closed Friday

Taxpayers of the Kingston School District Consolidated are notified that since the school buildings will be closed on Friday, Nov. 29, the office of the collector-treasurer at 67 Wall Street will not be open for payment of school taxes.

Taxpayers are reminded that Dec. 16 is the final date for the payment of the current tax, without penalty.

The office of the collector-treasurer in the George Washington School is open daily, Monday through Friday, with the exception of this week, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Ridge Holsteins Are Classified

STONE RIDGE — S. Robert Kelder of Stone Ridge reports that his Registered Holsteins Dairyman enrolled in this herd were classified for body conformation recently.

The evaluations were made by a staff specialist of Holstein-Friesian Association of America, Brattleboro, Vt.

The service is available through the association every 16 months and provides detailed information on each Registered Holstein of producing age and excellent, very good, good plus, bulls two years old or over.

Descriptive type classification is accomplished on the farm. Dairyman enrolled in this herd improvement program receive a numerical score for each animal classified.

To provide a more complete image of each animal, the classifier also uses comparative terms to describe 12 major parts of the animal's physical characteristics. This "word picture" serves as a guide for planning a breeding program to improve the herd.

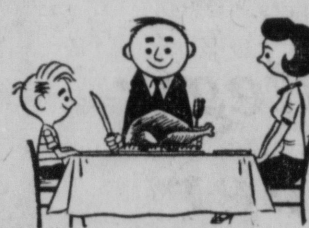

Including animals previously scored, the Rokol Farm herd owned by Kelder has five very good, 45 good pluses, and 22 goods.

The Day JFK Was Shot

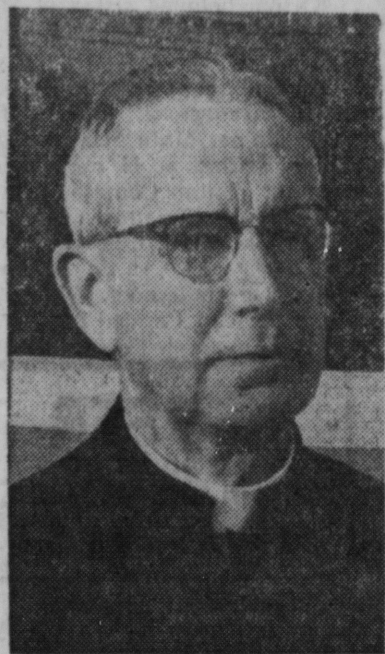

Rush to Parkland Hospital

The Kingston Daily Freeman continues today an exclusive serial condensation of the book the Kennedys asked Jim Bishop NOT to write, the book that William Manchester COULD NOT write. Bishop, famed author of The Day Lincoln Was Shot, had talked to President and Mrs. Kennedy in the White House a few weeks before the assassination. And he obtained from President Johnson the only interview Mr. Johnson has given containing his vivid recollection of the assassination and the events following on that fateful day, Nov. 22, 1963. Thus for the first time Bishop has been able to weave together the facts of the Presidential tragedy and its controversial aftermath. He began his minute by minute account with seven a.m. at Fort Worth. It continues second by second moments after 12 noon.

By JIM BISHOP
Chapter Two

IN THE JUMP seat of the President's car, Governor John Connally a hunter, knew the sound. The expression under the pale cowboy hat changed to open-mouthed disbelief. His mouth formed words not yet on his tongue: "Oh, no, no, no," as his head swung to the left to see the President.

Agent Roy Kellerman, in the front seat, thought he heard Kennedy speak and turned to see both hands coming up toward the face. He ordered the Secret Service driver, William Greer: "Let's get out of here!" Perhaps three seconds had elapsed since the first shot from the 6th floor window of the Texas School Book Depository. Mrs. Kennedy, disturbed by the sudden sound, looked toward her husband. His eyes sought hers in a daze.

LAST RITES were performed in Trauma Room No. 1, Parkland Hospital, Dallas, by Rev. Fr. Oscar Huber of Holy Trinity R. C. Church after President Kennedy was known to be dead.

The man in the window had the target plain now. In the four-power telescopic sight fixed upon the Mannlicher-Carcano military model, Kennedy was about eight-five feet away. This time the trigger was squeezed more steadily. The bullet, aimed diagonally downward, went through the clothing between the bottom of the neck and the right shoulder. It separated the strap muscles, cut through the trachea into sunlight, drilled into Governor Connally's back, came out the front of the rib cage to shatter itself against his raised right wrist and deflect downward to furrow the left thigh and become inert against his leg.

The Governor had a sensation of being punched in the back. President Kennedy struggled to clutch his throat. With the hole now there it is doubtful that he could have uttered an articulate sound. Rufus Youngblood rose from the front seat of the car second from the President's yelling. "Get down!" He shoved Vice President Johnson's right hand, at the Parkland Hospital, shoulder over toward Mrs. cars whipped to stops in disar-

Johnson and Senator Ralph Yarborough, then jumped up high enough to sit down on his man.

Mrs. Kennedy, seeing the agony on her husband's face, screamed. His last conscious effort was a slump toward her—who knows?—maybe to protect her. Spectators who had struggled to approach the President began flight.

William Greer hit the accelerator of the President's car as Kellerman roared into a microphone for the police escort. "Take us to a hospital, quick!"

The great head that was sinking to the left came up in the rifle sights again and the trigger was squeezed. As before, the explosive sound swelled through the plaza. This bullet entered the right rear of the skull. Portions of the head, exploded from the body in two chunks. One flew backward into the street. The other fell beside the President.

Shock froze the mind of Mrs. Kennedy. She had seen the piece of her husband's head turning in air to drop behind the car. She tried to climb out on the trunk of automobile.

As Governor Connally tried to breathe, the wound in his chest sucked air. "My God," he screamed, "they are going to kill us all!" as he heard the third shot. His wife, as protective and determined as the Texas frontierswomen of old, cradled his head in her hands and murmured: "Be quiet. You are going to be all right."

The Lincoln bucked the sudden acceleration, but Agent Clint Hill, who had grasped a handrail, hung on, reaching over with one hand, and shoved Mrs. Kennedy back into the seat. The agony in her face turned full upon him. She shouted "They have shot his head off." Hill looked down. The President was on his left side, his head in the roses his wife had been given. The eyes, wide open, stared at the back of Mrs. Connally. One foot hung over the right door.

As the car swerved onto Stemmons for the race to Parkland Memorial Hospital, four miles away, Mrs. Kennedy pathetically held up an arm. "I have his brains in my hand." The agony on Hill's face was screened by the big sunglasses. He looked back and shook his head no.

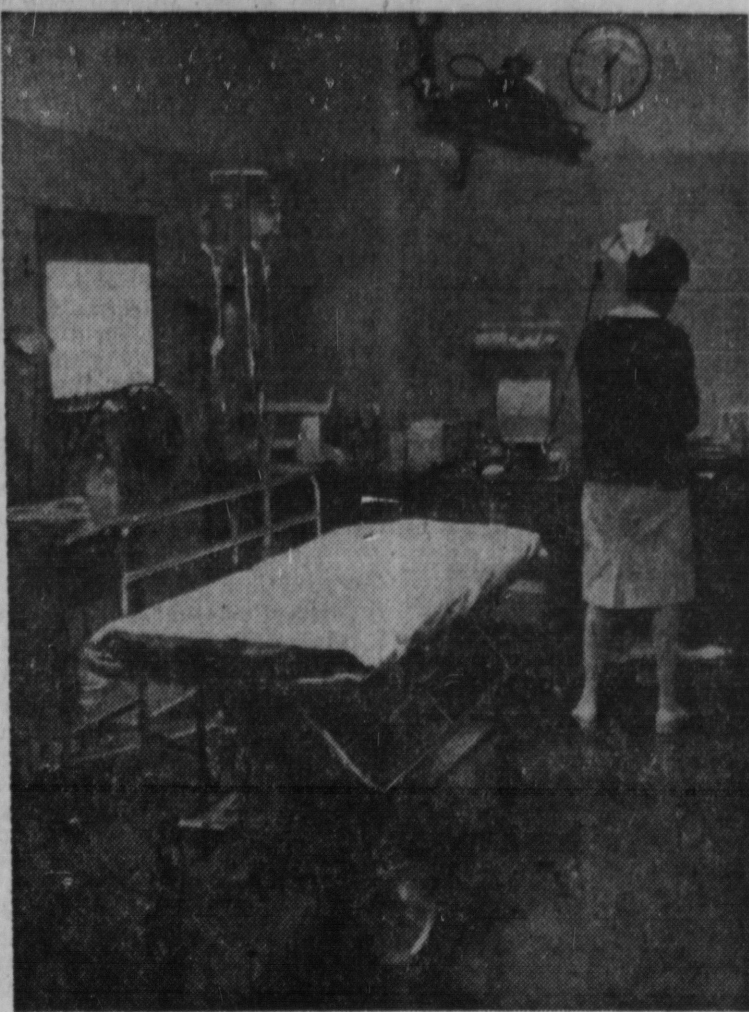

THE MAN STAYED at the 6th floor window of the Depository until he could see his victim had convulsed. Then the rifle retreated through the window. It was carried across the room and placed between cartons of books. A fourth shell remained in it. The spent shells remained where they dropped, when the assassin walked downstairs.

In the press pool car, Mirman Smith of United Press International lifted the pool phone from between his knees, got the Dallas bureau and said: "Three shots were fired at President Kennedy's motorcade in downtown Dallas." Meager word was out to the world.

HOWARD BRENNAN, who had watched all of it from his position at Dealey Plaza, was dismayed to see the police "running in the wrong direction." He convinced a policeman, speaking desperately, that the whole thing had come from that window up there. Mr. Brennan gave him a description of the man behind the gun. Officer W. E. Barnett wrote the words: "White male, approximately 5 feet 10 inches tall, weighing 165, in his early thirties." It was the first "make" on Lee Harvey Oswald.

Other persons were now trying to tell policemen their individual versions of what had happened. Everyone, it seemed, had a story to which he would swear.

AT THE EMERGENCY over-

WHERE TRAGEDY took place between 12:30 and 1:30 p. m., Nov. 22, 1963: Trauma Room No. 1, Parkland Memorial Hospital, Dallas, with a surgical nurse making normal preparations.

ray, and men threw themselves out wildly, yelling. Emory Roberts, agent in charge of this shift of Secret Service, opened the door on Mrs. Kennedy's side, saw the President face down on her leg, and said: "Let us get the President." Mrs. Kennedy said, "No." The last sentences she said in the car were to Clint Hill: "You know he's dead. Let me alone." Roberts turned to Kellerman. "You stay with the President. I'm taking some men to Johnson."

Quickly, three agents hustled Lyndon Johnson through the Emergency door. He was flapping his arms and trying to get back to the Kennedy car. Agent Youngblood said, "No," firmly. Other agents surrounded Mrs. Johnson. That moment the nation had a new President, but he did not know it, although the men around him did.

An ambulance cart was beside the car, but no one could get over Governor Connally to reach the President. Mrs. Kennedy still refused to let anyone touch her husband. Clint Hill whispered to her urgently. "Please let us remove the President." She repeated, "No." Hill removed his jacket and dropped it gently over the head.

Inside the hospital, Mr. Johnson now followed the phalanx of Secret Service agents without question. He had been convinced by the agents this might be a plot against him also. For a while he understood fear.

At last, the stretchers were going in a run. First there was Governor Connally; behind was President Kennedy, on his back with the coat over his face. Mrs. Kennedy trotted along, her fingers trying to maintain contact with him. Damp blood had penetrated the white gloves to her fingers. The pink wool suit was soaked down the right side, as was the stocking.

The Governor was wheeled into Trauma Two as the President was taken into Trauma One. Nurses looked at Dr. C. J. Carriaco, got his nod, and used surgical shears to cut off the President's clothes. Carriaco reached down for a pulse. There was none. The doctor tried a blood pressure cuff. There was no pressure.

Now medical help was jamming the two emergency rooms, and one doctor was making a cutdown on the right ankle; a nurse was doing it to the left arm. The electrocardiogram had shown a faint palpable heartbeat, hesitant, irregular, and weak. Then it stopped. A doctor sought to assist breathing by doing a tracheotomy and found the right spot. He enlarged it and an unknown judgment without absolution.

REPORTERS, held behind a barrier by police, saw Father Oscar Huber and Father James Thompson escorted through the Emergency entrance. Some rushed back to radio cars to report. Led to Trauma One, with Father Thompson following his pastor, the priests saw a wheeled table with a figure covered from over the head to knees. Seeing the snowy feet, Father Huber thought, "There is no blood in this man." He crouched to open the bag for the holy oils, the cotton batting, a prayer book. Putting the stole around his neck, he glanced around and saw Mrs. Kennedy. The priest whispered, "My sincerest sympathy goes to you," before he stepped to the body and peeled the sheet back from the head to the bottom of the nose. The eyelids were closed now.

Father Huber said: "I absolve you from your sins in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost. Amen."

The Roman Catholic Church maintains that the sacrament of Extreme Unction is not valid if the soul has departed. The thumb of the priest dipped into holy oil and traced the sign of the cross on the forehead. "Though this holy anointing," he said softly, "may God forgive you whatever sins you may have committed..." Mrs. Kennedy, Doctor Burkley, and Father Thompson stood repeating part of the prayers. As he turned to leave, Mrs. Kennedy hurried to Father Huber and took his arm.

"Father," she said, obviously frightened, "do you think the sacraments had effect?" "Oh, yes," he said, "Yes, indeed." Out in the hall, two Secret Service men took the priest by the arms. "Father," one of them said, "you don't know anything." He understood. Outside, walking toward their parked car, reporters engulfed them. "Is he dead?" "Tell us what he looked like." "Did Mrs. Kennedy say anything?" Father Huber rubbed his mouth and begged God's forgiveness. "He was unconscious," he said—an answer that was to be misquoted and falsified—and hurried into the car.

TOMORROW: While the assassin was roaming Dallas without design for escape, the corpse of his victim had to be wrested from Dallas authorities for secret removal from the city. Jim Bishop separates clearly facts from confused, conflicting accounts and guesswork of previous reports of the dreadful day.

THANKSGIVING! A day set aside since the dawn of America to give special thanks to God for His countless blessings. All of us—each and every one of us—have reason to be thankful. Some are especially thankful for good health after a siege of sickness. Some are especially thankful for employment after unemployment. Nearly every one can be thankful for plentiful food, ample clothes, adequate shelter. Our reasons to be thankful may vary, but there is one blessing we all have in common.

It is a marvelous blessing, all too often taken for granted. What is it? Friendships! Our own Thanksgiving prayers this year will express special thanks for many wonderful friendships. We are grateful and thankful for our legions of friends in civic circles... our many church friends... the friendly families who gave us the privilege to serve them... our friendly neighbors... our friendly associates... God bless all of you. May each and every one of you have special reason to be especially thankful this Thanksgiving!

Man Is Ordered Committed Following Olivebridge Fire

Firemen fought a fire that was discovered in an Olivebridge residence Monday afternoon, and later authorities said the occupant of the bungalow was committed to the Middletown State Hospital on orders of Dr. Vernon B. Link, county health commissioner.

Kingston State Police records showed that Peter Guzman, 39, allegedly set fire in his home on Krumville Road and when firemen arrived at the scene to extinguish the flames they found Guzman face down on the cellar floor.

Doctors Ambulance was summoned and Guzman was taken to Benedictine Hospital for examination. Later he was transferred to the state hospital. Olivebridge firefighters in charge of Chief Albert Fox responded to an alarm shortly before 4:30 p. m. and on arrival they found flames spreading in the Guzman home.

State police at Kingston were notified and BCI Investigator Richard Ryan and Trooper Craig Bremer investigated. Troopers said Guzman allegedly threatened the firefighters as they worked to quell the blaze.

Sales Levy . . .

cans, 11th District.

Legislation for the adoption of a county-wide sales tax appeared doomed for further consideration this year when County Legislature Chairman Peter J. Savago, R-New Paltz-Gardner said yesterday that there was no need for a sales levy and he could not justify the new special tax in light of the lower tax rate for 1969.

The county chairman noted that it was close to the end of November and that an additional $200,000 totaling unexpended balances from all county departments will be used to lower the tax rate charged to each of the 20 townships and the City of Kingston.

A preliminary tax table released by Clerk of the Board and Budget Officer Edward W. Snyder revealed tax rate decreases for 19 of the 20 towns in the county, and also the City of Kingston.

The city rate showed a decrease of $1.73 under last year's rate of $28.788. The new rate, pending any last minute changes in the county budget, will be $27.058.

Majority Leader Douglas V. Dye, R-2nd District, who is chairman of the Operations Efficiency Committee commented on Chairman Savago's statement and concurred with his thoughts about a county sales tax at this time.

The preliminary county budget for 1969 totaling $16,774,301 will reflect a sharp decrease in the amount to be raised by real estate levy, due to increased revenues and unexpended balances.

Pilot Killed In Dutchess

STORMVILLE, N.Y. (AP) — A do-it-yourself one-seater gyrocopter fell apart in flight today, killing its pilot when it crashed about 100 feet to the ground at the Stormville Airport.

Charles Borchers, of the Dutchess County Sheriff's Department, said the top blade of the homemade gyrocopter fell off while the flying machine circled the field.

It crashed upside down. The pilot, Andrew J. White, 28, of Fishkill was pronounced dead at the scene from brain injuries. White was an IBM employee.

Borchers said the wreckage had not been removed from the airfield pending an investigation by the Federal Aviation Agency. White lived at Albany Post Road.

Last Chance To Donate Blood Tonight

A minimum of 60 pints of blood is needed at tonight's VFW blood bank drawing in order to aid a Saugerties youth undergoing heart surgery and to assist two other persons who are awaiting blood, according to the VFW blood bank chairman, Mrs. Janice Dengler.

Starting at 7 p. m. in the VFW Hall, donors may give their life saving blood. Technicians from the Kingston Laboratory will be on hand to conduct the session with a Saugerties physician also in attendance. A supper is provided for all donors.

Any person free from a cold, age 18 to 59 may donate. The drawing is a "last chance" to continue the blood bank. If the public responds favorably, it will continue in operation, distributing blood to persons requesting it from the Saugerties township.

For the past 18 years, the VFW blood bank has been averaging 160 pints distributed yearly at a value of $27.50 a pint.

Visas Are Canceled For Czech Travelers

PRAGUE (UPI)—Czechoslovakians accustomed to unprecedented freedom to travel west from their Communist nation today found the Iron Curtain locked back in place.

The Czechoslovak government Monday canceled all permanent travel visas—which had numbered in the tens of thousands—and heavy restrictions were imposed on issuance of new ones.

The luxury of foreign travel will be limited once again to those whom the Communist Party trusts.

Officially, the reason for the "temporary" restriction was a massive exodus of Czechoslovakians who feared a new wave of repression as a result of the Aug. 21 Soviet invasion and occupation. Those who fled included many of the nation's most valuable skilled persons of trips for private reasons.

As in the old days before the Stalinist regime of Antonin Novotny was ousted in January, Czechoslovak citizens who wish will be free to travel to any other nation in the Communist bloc.

Dr. Jaroslav Rybar, deputy minister of the interior, told Czechoslovak newsmen Monday the restrictions were ordered "after an analysis of the current situation in the sphere of foreign travel of Czechoslovak citizens abroad," according to the news agency CTK.

CTK said the measures "were aimed at removing some negative aspects of this activity and were of a temporary nature."

The measures listed by Rybar ruled out virtually any type of travel to the West except that done in connection with official business, and a limited number of trips for private reasons.

Woman's Council Meets in New York

New York, N.Y., November 22—Women leaders in business, industry, the professions, labor and community activities gathered in New York City Thursday and Friday to pool their collective talents and know-how in helping the New York State Department of Commerce plan for solving womanpower needs of the future.

The group consists of members of the New York State Woman's Council, appointed by Governor Rockefeller as advisors to the New York State Commerce Women's Program, which is charged with helping New York State make an effective contribution to the State's economy. Also meeting with the group were members of the interdepartmental Women's Committee, comprised of women executives in some twenty New York State agencies. The meeting was held at the Hotel McAlpin here.

Addressing the Thursday evening dinner meeting, Commissioner Neal L. Moylan pointed out that New York State's burgeoning economy requires the contribution of trained womanpower in the years ahead. He said that New York State is the leading industrial state in the nation and that its manufacturing and mining firms engage in 417 of the 425 industrial categories. Citing an example of the need for more trained womanpower in the future, he noted that the population is expected to increase 14 per cent by 1970 and 58 per cent by 1990 and that the enrollment of the State University of New York will have increased nearly ten-fold by 1975 (from 1958).

Commissioner Moylan called for the organization to use its leadership and collective experience to open up a reservoir of talent in three major areas: utilizing fully the disadvantaged in our great economic surge; helping the under-achievers join the mainstream of society as workers, and returning dignity, respect and esteem to those who work at the limit of their potential.

Members of the State Commerce Department's Public Information Division demonstrated what the Commerce Department is already doing to communicate with New York State residents both in publications and on the air. A Council member, Mrs. Grace Fippinger, Nassau County Division Manager, New York Telephone Company, presented a demonstration of communications techniques which might be used to help reach women.

A major part of the two-day meeting was spent in workshop discussions in which the Council members undertook to help the State Commerce Department plan for future programs that would reach all New York State women. Workshop topics included "Packaging Pilot Projects," "Reaching the Hard-to-Reach" and "Involving Business with Women and Teens."

Specially conducted tours of the new Madison Square Garden, the Ford Foundation Building and Fashion Institute of Technology were also part of the program. A luncheon for the group at Fashion Institute of Technology was hosted by Mrs. Shirley Goodman, a Council member and Executive Vice-president, FIT.

BEHIND THE SCENES
IN THE FOOD MARKETING
SYSTEM

The retailers — Retailing is a major driving force for the food industry. Weekly, it reaches out, collects, and distributes more than 1 billion dollars worth of food to American consumers. Supermarkets now number around 35,000; represent only 15 per cent of all grocery stores but attract about 70 per cent of the total grocery store business, says Mrs. Louise Breitung, extension home economist.

From Hawaii, California, Idaho, Florida, and the Carolinas, food arrives to stock the shelves and cases of grocery stores. Transportation costs have increased, and they dig into the consumer food dollar. The U.S. Department of Agriculture reported that 5.8 per cent of the food dollar was consumed in rail and truck transportation in 1966. This compares with 3.9 per cent in 1957.

Other factors, such as rising insurance rates and the increased incidence of shop lifters and bad check passers, add to retailers' costs, too. Stamps, games, and gimmicks also cost money. Some food retailers estimate that these features cost the consumer 2 per cent more in grocery prices, while other retailers claim no price increases to consumers. Should stamps be discontinued? A few years ago a Denver, Colorado supermarket offered shoppers a choice between stamps or a 2 per cent rebate. The overwhelming majority chose stamps, indicating to the grocers that stamps may be preferable to lower prices. Since only 36 per cent of the weekly shoppers at a supermarket are regular customers, games, gimmicks, and stamps serve to attract the other 64 per cent who shop around.

The consumer — Consumers, too, have changed. Although food prices have risen, disposable incomes have also risen, placing a higher proportion of families in the middle and upper income levels. But, there are still 7 million households with annual earnings of less than $3000.

Consumer tastes vary, but in general there has been an increase in consumption of meat and of convenience foods, like cake mixes and instant potatoes. Some of these foods, like frozen pies and dinners are much more expensive than the home prepared product, while others like frozen orange juice concentrate are less costly.

The food choice available to consumers have changed. Excluding meat and produce, 55 per cent of the items carried by one supermarket chain in 1967 were not sold a decade before, according to a survey reported in Progressive Grocer. Eighty-six per cent of the baking mixes, 82 per cent of the frozen foods, and 65 per cent of the soft drinks on shelves today weren't there in 1957.

Grieg and His Music Presented at Meeting

The regular meeting of The Music Appreciation Group was held at the home of Mrs. Robert Pixley on November 19.

Mrs. Wm. Ochs chose for devotions "Prayers of Thanks," as expressed in Protestant, Catholic, Jewish and Orthodox faiths. Responding to a special request, Mrs. Pixley presented a "Prayer of Thanksgiving."

After a brief business meeting, the program, Grieg and His Music, was given by Mrs. Pixley accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Arthur Pedersen.

An old clipping from Kingston Freeman pages of years back was read by Miss Jane Austen, reporting a visit by Miss Geraldine Farrar to Grieg's home in Bergen, Norway. Miss Farrar said she was much affected as she played on his piano and sang one of his songs, "The First Meeting," while the villagers gathered round in delight.

The speaker then told how Frieg had been asked to write the incidental music to Hendrik Ebsen's dramatization of "Peer Gynt" for stage production; then related in detail the story of Peer Gynt and his adventures, and how he later incorporated many of these pieces into his orchestral "Peer Gynt Suites." This recording was then played.

During the social hour refreshments were served by Mrs. Pixley and Miss Austen; Mrs. Pedersen presiding at the tea table.

The next meeting will be held at the home Mrs. John Sterley.

Tiny Tips

After washing corduroy, allow the garment to dry completely, then brush in one direction only to raise the pile. This keeps those school slacks, skirts, and jackets looking neater and at their best.

To improvise an ironing board either in a hotel or motel, empty a dresser drawer, turn it over and cover it with a turkish bath towel. With your travel iron, this improvised board will press any garment satisfactorily.

If you have trouble with buttons coming off ready-made garments touch the center of each button with transparent nail polish. This seals the thread securely and prevents it from unraveling.

Silicons should not be used on woods and leather. They give a high sheen but they clog the pores, eventually causing cracking.

Saugerties Places Three on All-DCSL

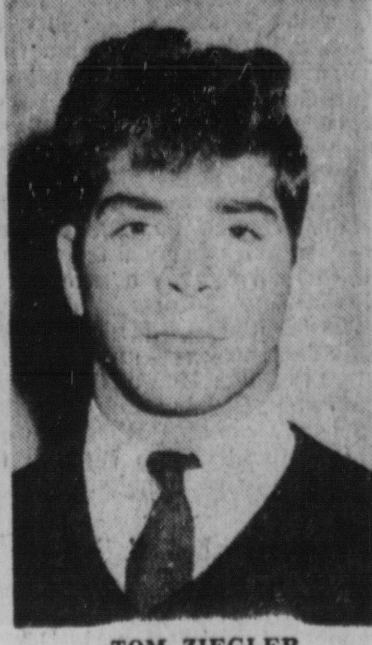

ROGER PRAETORIUS

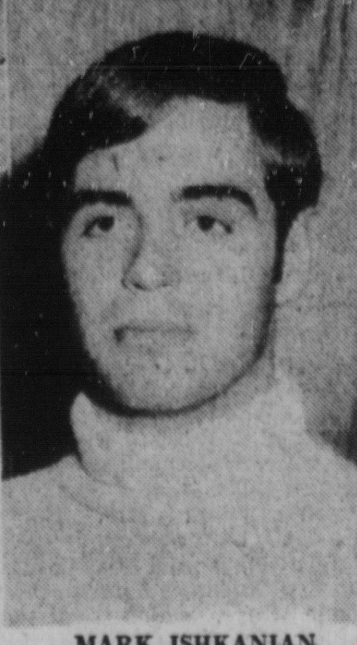

JOHN CARNRIGHT

LARRY ANDREASSEN

TOM ZIEGLER

MARK ISHKANIAN

SAUGERTIES — Saugerties High's second place DCSL team has earned three first team berths on the 1968 Honor Team selected by the Dutchess County Scholastic League coaches.

Roger Praetorius, the Sawyers' backfield ace, was one of three players selected on the first teams both on offense and defense. He was also one of six players who received the unanimous nod of the six coaches participating in the balloting.

Other Saugerties picks were Tom Ziegler, a guard, and Tom Christiana, a tackle. Ziegler and Christiana also were picked for the second team on defense.

John Carnright, an end, was named on second team offense and Mark Ishkanian made second team defense as a defensive back. Larry Andreassen and made the second team as a defensive tackle.

The champion Poughkeepsie Pioneers were awarded six first team berths, Roy C. Ketcham and Arlington, four each and the Sawyers three.

In the backfield with Praetorius are quarterback Ed Bonnett of Ketcham; halfback Charlie McKinley of Ketcham and Billy Green of Poughkeepsie.

Jeff O'Neal of Poughkeepsie and Bob Rush of Ketcham (a two-way pick) are the ends. John McDonald of Lourdes is the center; Tom Ziegler, Saugerties, and Bob Piekarski, Poughkeepsie, guards.

The tackle slot went to Tom Christiana and Ray Seagrist, Arlington, who like Praetorius and Rush was a two-way selection.

Coach Fred Seither hailed the 6-3, 195 pound Praetorius, as "a tremendous player who was keyed on by all our opponents."

"Roger continually broke tackles and carried tacklers for extra yardage. He gained over 100 yards in half of his games."

Praetorius, a senior, made the team on defense as a linebacker. He was the Sawyers' leading tackler in that spot.

"He's a great all-round football player and also a good all-round athlete," Seither said.

Seither said the 6-2, 215 pound Christiana had only "average speed, but led the blocking for the fullback on short yardage situations." Christiana also wrestles and plays basketball and made the second team as a defensive tackle.

The Sawyer coach described guard Tom Ziegler as "a real tough player who hits real well." He was the second leading tackler on the team defensively and blocked hard on offense. He pulled on all our sweeps to the left."

Bonnett, the 5-10, 170 pound junior Ketcham quarterback, has a three-year total of 18 touchdowns passes, including nine this year. All-county signal caller for the second straight year, Bonnett completed 43 of 83 passes for 670 yards and was intercepted only four times. He also ran for five TDs. Although only a junior, Bonnett is already rated as one of the best quarterbacks in the school's history.

McKinley, who was Bonnett's teammate in the Ketcham backfield, is an elusive 5-11, 145 pound halfback who scored seven touchdowns this season to close out his career. He gained 179 yards against Roosevelt and is rated by Coach Ken Lynn as one of the best running backs in Wappingers history.

Billy Green of Poughkeepsie, the fourth member of the all-star backfield, gained a fantastic 1,052 yards in seven games, an average of more than 150 yards a game. Coach Don Smith rated him a brilliant runner. "The best I have seen in my limited career as coach."

The coaches picked only 10 players on defense.

NFA Impressive by Land and by Air

By DENNIS P. CARO
(Freeman Sports Staff)

"They've got a real fine ball club," said Kingston High school football coach Frank Modica.

Yeah, right? And Ghengis Kahn had a "cute" army.

Modica and a group of his coaches watched Newburgh Free Academy chew up what had been considered a tough Port Jervis squad Saturday as a prep for the DUSO league showdown with the "Fighting Maroons" on Thanksgiving Day.

They watched sophomore quarterback Ralph Petrillo hit Newburgh in an explosive on 10 of 13 pass attempts for 242 yards and a long list of speedy backs tear up the turf for 198 yards on the ground.

They watched a tough offensive line open mammoth holes and a strong defensive effort shut the Red Raiders down whenever they seemed ready to score.

They watched a speedy defensive secondary pick off three passes, to match the effort they had against Middletown and give them a total of six in league games this year.

And perhaps they wondered how Middletown beat this ball Maroons on Thanksgiving Day.

Newburgh is an explosive on 10 of 13 pass attempts for 242 yards and a long list of the ground. But Goldback defense is what makes them tough.

The Goldbacks have given up a little less than eight points a game, posting three shutouts while scoring an average of 28 points.

Petrillo, who has developed into a fine field general since he replaced Nick Buccell after the latter was injured in the Middletown game, is a three-way threat on offense and possibly the best defensive back in the league.

Junior Fran Tarkenton

The speedy sophomore throws accurately both long and short, scrambles like a junior Fran Tarkenton and has the hands that makes receivers great. He has intercepted nine passes this year.

Bucci, who made a few brief appearances against Port Jervis, showed his experience in handling the ballclub although he didn't attempt to pass.

The 150 pound senior suffered a shoulder injury against Middletown, but coach Charles (Rip) Fornal figures his arm should be back in shape by Thursday. And if he can throw with his former accuracy, it looks like he will have Petrillo as his prime receiver.

Nano Di Eduardo, a five foot ten inch 165-pound end, was Petrillo's clutch target against Port, and he responded with three touchdown grabs.

Despite his comparative small size, he is a hard hitter on defense and was able to read Port quarterbacks Bill Cleary and Earl Sheard like a book.

Butwell Top Threat

George Butwell, a 150-pound halfback, has been Newburgh's prime running threat this year, picking up 482 yards in 83 carries for a 5.8 yard average. A tricky runner on the end sweep and a good receiving threat, Butwell has scored eleven touchdowns on the year, although he was bottled up by Port Jervis.

The Raiders, consistently looking for the run, held Butwell to 44 yards on 14 carries including a 48 yard touchdown scramble.

Fullback Jack Saffioti, a powerful runner once he gets up to full speed, sophomore speedster Paul Gore and halfback-end Junius Hayes comprise the balance of the volatile Newburgh attack.

In general, the Goldback offense is remarkably similar to Kingston's and man-for-man the Maroons should be better at it.

Butwell is a strong runner, however he lacks the speed and the deceptive moves of a Marshall Byrd and Saffioti could hardly fill Pete Helmich's shoes.

If Petrillo starts at halfback, however, the threat of the option pass is much more real than the one occasionally thrown by Kingston's Eddie Adams.

Annual JCC's Father-Son Contest Is Set Wednesday

The third annual father and son basketball game of the Jewish Community Center will be played on Wednesday evening, Nov. 27, at 8 p. m., at the Municipal Auditorium.

The Kingston JCC All-Star basketball team has been working out for the past few weeks, under the direction of Coach Ron Cole, in preparation for this game, which marks the start of the team's regular season schedule.

The first league games will take place on Sunday, Dec. 1, at the Poughkeepsie Jewish Community Center, with the Kingston squad facing Poughkeepsie in the first game of a double-header followed by a game between the Newburgh Jewish Community center and The Monticello Jewish Community Center.

Army Downs Brockport

BROCKPORT — The United States Military Academy Soccer Team battled State University College, Brockport through four scoreless overtime periods, where Monday, before darkness brought the contest to an end and the Cadets were awarded the decision on an 11-5 edge in corner kicks.

The win moved Army into the third round of the NCAA tournament. They are slated to meet New England champion Brown University either Friday or Saturday with the home advantage decided by the toss of a coin.

Brockport had parlayed an 11-0 record into a first place ranking in New York State soccer, and the West Point victory is rated one of the biggest of the year.

The Cadets built up a 3-0 lead through the first three on goals by Bob Behnke, Matt Fleumer, and Pete Cramblet. Doug Fitzgerald notched his fourth assist of the post season tournament with a pass to Behnke. Jim Avery assisted Fleumer and Fleumer assisted Cramblet.

Fleumer and Cramblet again finished the game tied for the team scoring leadership, both with 12 goals.

But Roy Miller — finally got the Brockport offense untracked, scoring two goals and assisting on the third all within a 14 minute span.

Both teams were credited with 35 shots on goal and Army's Bill Thorne recorded eight stops to seven for Brockport goalie Fran Standish.

It marked the second time a West Point squad had won a NCAA tournament game on corner kicks, knocking off Trinity in the 1966 series.

It was the second time a West Point team has won an NCAA tournament game on the corner kick advantage, having done Trinity in that fashion in the 1966 series.

Army will again be rated the underdog against Brown, losing a 4-0 decision at Providence, R. I., earlier in the season. But the Cadets have gone undefeated since that game.

The cadets have also played in the semi-final round seven times in the past eight years.

Area Man Bags Piebald Deer

Andrew Horvath of West Hurley has bagged what State Conservation Department experts describe as a rare piebald deer.

A piebald is a deer spotted with blotches of black and white and slightly pinkish eyes. It is not, however, from the albino family.

The deer, taken on the north side of Tobias Mountain in the Catskill range, weighed around 190 pounds dressed.

Harvath said. The deer is extremely rare in the Ulster county area. About 10 were reported killed in the Eacket River section of the Adirondacks.

Horvath is an IBM employee with an extensive background as a hunter. He has bagged more than ten deer and several bears in his career.

Earlier this season, he downed a deer during the Northern Zone season in the Adirondacks.

Wilkins Keeps Wowing Rivals in Super Season

(By United Press International)

The wear and tear of eight National Basketball Association seasons aren't showing a bit on Lenny Wilkins, who is making the 1968-69 campaign the best of his pro career.

Wilkins, averaging more than 22 points a game compared to his previous season high of 20, scored 29 points and rookie Bob Kauffman tallied 22 Monday night when the Seattle SuperSonics beat the Milwaukee Bucks, 123-113 at Vancouver, B.C. in the only NBA game of the night.

In the ABA, the Miami Floridians edged to within a half game of leader Minnesota in the Eastern Division by subduing cellar-dwelling Indiana 126-121 in double overtime.

In other ABA action, Oakland topped Houston 111-102 and

New Orleans tripped Los Angeles 124-115.

Oakland, despite being held to its lowest point total of the season, won for the 12th time in 15 outings behind Rick Barry's sub-normal quota of 25 points.

Good Shot Edges Xpert at Wire

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Good Shot edged Xpert Time at the wire to win the $4,000 pace Monday night at Roosevelt Raceway.

David Hal B easily captured the $1,300 pace at Batavia Downs, the only other harness track currently operating in the state.

Good Shot stepped the mile in 2:05 2-5 and paid $4.40 for the victory. The Sunday Man was third.

Goldbacks Use Bomb

The Goldies use the bomb, as does Kingston, but Joe Holland, who is out for the season would have been the only Maroon to match Di Eduardo as a receiver.

On defense, Newburgh clearly has the edge, with strong linemen like Pete Scarafie, John Hardy and Joe Politti who can blow in and nail a quarterback for a nifty loss while guys like Petrillo, Wade Pittman and Art Winfield are providing stellar pass protection.

The Goldback safeties have allowed only a third of the passes thrown at them to actually be caught, and have accomplished 27 interceptions in seven games.

"We know what they've got," Modica said, "and we're going to go out and play the same kind of a game we've been playing all along. It's too late to change now anyway."

Dave Hart Quits Pitt

By JOHN HOPE

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Dave Hart resigned as head football coach at the University of Pittsburgh, Monday following completion of his third straight 1-9 season.

Hart said he took the action after he could not gain assurances that he would be retained to serve the last year of his four-year contract.

Chancellor Wesley Posvar immediately appointed a four-man committee, including Tom Hamilton, director of the Pacific-8 Athletic Conference and former Pitt athletic director, to screen applicants for a successor.

Hart will be paid for the remaining year of his contract, Posvar said.

Hart joined Pitt in 1966 after a successful career as a high school coach at Johnstown, Pa., where his teams once won 27 consecutive games, and a brief stint as an assistant coach at Navy.

His resignation was announced at a press conference by Posvar and athletic director Frank Carver. Hart was not present.

For the first time this year, the major wire service college football polls yielded two different candidates for the number one team in the country.

Ohio State nosed out Southern California in the Associated Press poll, holding a bare 10-point margin even though the Buckeyes received three less first place votes than did the Trojans.

In the poll taken by United Press International, however, So. Cal. continued to lead Ohio State although the margin has narrowed to nine points.

"We deserved it." This was

Ohio State Coach Woody Hayes' reaction to news Monday night that his unbeaten Buckeyes had been voted No. 1 in the Associated Press' major college weekly football poll.

Hayes learned of the ranking just before he addressed a crowd of 1,100 persons at OSU's annual football banquet. He thought I coached better last year. But the boys made the difference.

"Without exception," Hayes said, "every man on the squad did the best job possible. They did 99 per cent of the work."

His Rose Bowl-bound Buckeyes crushed Michigan 50-14 Saturday to clinch the Big Ten title. OSU finished the regular season with a 9-0 record.

"I didn't have much to do with it actually," Hayes said. "I thought I coached better last year. But the boys made the difference."

"Our talent is diversified this season," Hayes said. "If we can't beat you one way, we'll beat you two other ways."

The Buckeyes topped the AP Southern California would pit

Bowl that year, 20-7 over Southern California.

This year's Buckeyes also will face Southern Cal., which slipped from No. 1 to No. 2 in this week's poll and closes its regular season Saturday against Notre Dame.

"We've done a great job so far but we can't get fatheaded or we will blow everything," Hayes said. "This has been a year of great victories but there is one more great victory left to win—in Pasadena."

Hayes said the clash with Penn State would pit his defense against the "best of J. Simpson.

"Our defense has to do its best, because we will be facing the best," Hayes said.

And UPI says:

Notre Dame will, after all, decide the national championship. The Fighting Irish, picked by many as the top team in the nation early in the season, were upset twice and sidetracked in their attempt for the national championship. But Saturday and a Rose Bowl shot at the No. 1 ranked Trojans, was close to when Ara Parseghian's ninth ranked Irish play Southern California, the nation's No. 1 team.

Southern California held on to its slim margin over second ranked Ohio State Monday when the 33-member United Press International Board of Coaches awarded the unbeaten Trojans (9-0) 21 first place votes and 332 points. Ohio State, which ended its regular season by drubbing Michigan for the Big Ten title (9-0) 21 first place votes and 332 points. Ohio State, which ended its regular season by drubbing Michigan for the Big Ten title (9-0) 21 first place votes and 332 points. Ohio State, which ended

UPI Selects All-American Team, O.J. Simpson Unanimous Choice

By John G. GRIFFIN
UPI Executive Sports Editor
NEW YORK (UPI)—O.J.

"Orange Juice" Simpson, who often makes the difficult look easy, accomplished the "impossible" today when he got the nation's sports writers and broadcasters to agree on one thing unanimously.

Simpson, the record-breaking running back from Southern California, was a unanimous choice on all 202 ballots cast in the voting for the 1968 United Press International All-American college football team announced today.

It marked the first time in the history of the team—the only All-America team chosen by direct vote of the nation's sports writers and broadcasters—that one man was named on all the ballots. The closest previous approach to perfection came in 1966 when end George "Bubba" Smith of Michigan State missed a unanimous vote by seven ballots.

It also marked the second straight year that Simpson, now a senior, had led the voting for the All-America team and for the second year in a row versatile back Leroy Keyes of Purdue, who received votes both on offense and defense, was runner-up with a total of 191 ballots.

One thing Simpson was not able to do—to lead Southern Cal. to the greatest number of places on the All-America team. The Trojans, who had four men on the squad last year, landed only two this time—Simpson and defensive back Mike Battle. Perhaps ominously for the Trojans' national championship hopes, Notre Dame—which will meet Southern Cal. this Saturday in the final game of the regular season for each—took top honors on the All-America team with three berths.

Here are the players chosen as the best in the land:

Offense:

Ends—Jim Seymour, Notre Dame, and Ted Kwalick, Penn State.

Tackles—Dave Foley, Ohio State, and George Kunz, Notre Dame.

Guards—Charles Rosenfelder, Tennessee, and Guy Dennis, Florida.

Center—John Didion, Oregon State.

Backs—Terry Hanratty, Notre Dame; O.J. Simpson, Southern California; Leroy Keyes, Purdue; and Bill Enyart, Oregon State.

Defense:

Ends—Ted Hendricks, Miami (Fla.), and John Zook, Kansas.

Tackles—Bill Stanfill, Georgia, and Joe Greene, North Texas State.

Middle guard—Chuck Kyle, Purdue.

Linebackers—Dennis, Onkotz, Penn State, and Bill Hobbs, Texas A&M.

Backs—Roger Wehrli, Missouri; Mike Battle, Southern California; Jake Scott, Georgia; and Al Worley, Washington.

Onkotz and Scott are juniors; all 20 of the others are seniors.

Simpson, Keyes, Seymour, and Hendricks all were repeaters from the 1967 All-America team.

The Midwest replaced the South as the dominant section of the country on the honor squad. Of the 22 first-team places, Midwesterners grabbed six while players from the South and Far West each had five, the East, Southwest, and Midlands two each.

Of the 44 places on the first and second teams, again it was the Midwest on top with a total of 12, followed by the South and Southwest with eight each, the Far West six, the Midlands five, the East four, and the Rockies one.

The 6-foot-2, 207-pound Simpson, who scored 36 touchdowns in junior college before transferring to Southern California and thus will have only two seasons in his Southern Cal. career, currently leads the nation in rushing yardage for the second straight year with 1,654 yards—an all-time, major college single-season record with still that one game against Notre Dame to come.

Simpson also has scored 120 points and a big day against the Irish might also give him the national title in that department.

Keyes' figures were not quite as impressive as in 1967, as Purdue found it often effective to use him as a decoy on offense. Hanratty broke all of the immortal George Gipp's total yardage records at Notre Dame with the glue-fingered Seymour, who broke all Irish pass receiving records, his favorite target.

Named to the second team were:

Offense:

Ends—Jerry Levas, Southern Methodist, and Ron Sellers, Florida State.

Tackles—Rufus Mayes, Ohio State, and Mike Montler, Colorado.

Guards—Jim Barnes, Arkansas, and Ken Mendenhall, Oklahoma.

Center—Jon Kolb, Oklahoma State.

Backs—Bob Douglass, Kansas; Ron Johnson, Michigan; Chris Gilbert, Texas; and Eugene Morris, West Texas State.

Defense:

Ends—Bob Stein, Minnesota, and Mike Ford, Alabama.

Tackles—Rolf Krueger, Texas A&M, and Art Thoms, Syracuse.

Middle guard—Ed White, California.

Linebackers—Jim Sniadecki, Indiana, and Ron Pritchard, Arizona State.

Backs—Tony Kyasky, Syracuse; Jim Weatherford, Tennessee; Al Brenner, Michigan State; and Tom Curtis, Michigan.

TIANO'S TOPICS

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

Hell hath no fury like a woman scorned, the old adage goes. In the light of Penny Ann Early's difficulties with the jockeys at Churchill Downs, you could also say that hell hath no fury like women who come to the defense of their sisters in trouble.

We don't know what the reaction was in your set, but in our editorial department the ladies reacted magnificently and decisively. You'll never find their remarks in the jockey's Hall of Fame.

IN A MEMO to the Freeman ladies we asked for their reaction to "those cads at Churchill Downs who thrice refused to let Penny Ann act like the first woman jockey she'd like to be."

"You're right, they are cads," bristled Jean Dolan, who is a city desk assistant and occasional feature writer.

"If pretty Penny wants to join the jockey set, that's her business. They should let her make a fool of herself and not make it a federal case by boycotting her efforts in that direction."

WHAT'S SO NEW about Penny's predicament? asks Dorothy Narel, the Women's Page Editor and staunch suffragette. "Through the years men have traditionally bucked women entering any of the professions—so slamming the gate (no pun intended) on a prospective female jockey is par for the course."

"Men can't stand competition because, in the end, it always emphasizes the superiority of the female," chortled the editor.

"Why Penny chose to be a jockey is her business," Dorothy added. "I think it would be gross discrimination to deny her that opportunity. If enough races are boycotted and the trainers start feeling the money pinch, Penny and her horse Witness will come through in grand style."

"Hang in there, kid!"

LYNN MULVANEY, a staff reporter and political columnist, leaned heavily on puns to chide the all-male jockey clique at Churchill Downs.

"They are men with one-track minds, who don't know how to enjoy the spirit of the chase," she tongue-in-cheeked. And as an afterthought, "Perhaps, they are afraid that Penny might turn out to look like a million and earn one, too." Ponderous puns are not likely to be relished by the small men of the saddle we think.

A FEW MORE PUNS rolled off the typewriter of Joan Woinoski, the young lady who assists Dorothy Narel and eats in the finest spots in the area.

"Penny Ann should be flattered instead of fuming," said Joan. "It's comforting to know that such a large segment of male population is still fighting to put the female back on her pedestal which, undoubtedly, is the right track if not the race track."

"Uterior motive or not," she adds, "the jockeys are doing her a favor. Better to be 'Penny wise' than 'Downs foolish.'"

WE SAVED TOBIE GEERTSEMA for the last verbal barrage. Kentucky born, the editor of Tempo unleashed a withering blast against the boys.

"As a native-born daughter of the Blue Grass State, who grew up within picketing distance of Churchill Downs, I'd say all Kentucky women should rise up and burn their birth certificates."

"If the Russians can send a gal into space, the male jockeys of the U.S. can afford to drop their paranoias and let Penny Ann make like Eddie Arcaro, if she wants to. After all she's not trying to be president, she just wants to Whirlaway (ouch!)."

"Refusing to let her ride is like ostracizing a woman from a posh restaurant because she's wearing a pants suit," she goes on. "Kick her out for not wearing a tie, not because she digs Yves St. Laurent."

"I say," she says, "destroy the grandstand at Churchill Downs, blow up the starting gate, demolish the dissenting male jockeys, send flowers to Penny, stand silent vigil at the grave of Man O War, and help Penny be the first woman to make the run for the roses by starting a sustaining fund to take her case all the way to the Supreme Court."

Men, the gals are right. We should have stopped them when they started wearing pants. It's a little late, now.

Conservation Unit Names Liddy Counsel

G. Gordon Liddy, Poughkeepsie attorney, who sought the Republican nomination for Congress in a Primary last June, has been named counsel to the firearms legislative committee of the New York State Conservation Council. Announcement of his appointment has been made by James Mallarkey of Carmel, vice president of the council and chairman of the committee.

The conservation council is composed of all the fish and game federations in the State of New York and in his capacity as counsel, Liddy will be representing a half-million New York sportsmen on firearms legislation.

Liddy, 38, is a former bureau supervisor of the FBI, and former assistant district attorney of Dutchess County who lost the 28th Congressional district's close GOP primary race with Congressman-elect Hamilton Fish Jr. A member of the National Rifle Association, Liddy is rated last the 28th Congressional district's close GOP primary firm stand against anti-gun laws in the Congressional primary campaign, favoring tough penal laws for those who use firearms for criminal purposes. It is understood, Liddy's duties will include appearances before U.S. Congress and the New York State Legislature in connection with proposed firearms legislation.

Mullarky, in commenting on Liddy's appointment said, "Gordon Liddy, has in the past supported the sportsmen's position on firearms and has proven himself outstanding in every respect in these matters."

Liddy, in accepting said it is of course an honor to be chosen to advise half a million of my fellow sportsmen on a subject so crucial to our ability to pass on to our sons so vital a part of our American heritage. It is also an opportunity to promote legislation aimed at the criminal rather than the gun and in that way serve all the people of our state.

Supreme Court Gets Appeal on Goodell Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Supreme Court has been asked to determine for how long states may fill vacancies for the U.S. Senate by appointment rather than by election.

The case stems from the appointment last September by New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of Charles E. Goodell to the unexpired term of the assassinated Robert F. Kennedy. A federal court in New York City ruled Nov. 13 that Goodell could sit until Dec. 1, 1970. The term expires Dec. 31, 1970.

An appeal challenging the appointment of Goodell claims New York officials did not comply with the Constitution in filling the vacancy.

Dr. Joseph A.F. Valenti, assistant dean of St. John Fisher College of Rochester, N.Y., contends the Kennedy vacancy should be filled by an election next November.

The 17th Amendment allows state legislatures to empower governors to make "temporary" appointments when a Senate seat becomes vacant. The appointment, under the amendment, is to be in force "until the people fill the vacancies by election."

Greene Youths Await Jury

Three youths, who Catskill police said, virtually "wrecked" the interior of the Veterans of Foreign Wars at 339 Main Street in that Greene County community, were in the Greene County jail today awaiting grand jury action in connection with a rash of burglaries.

The arrests of the trio followed the apprehension of Lillian Broadhead, 20, of Hudson, who was accused of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle. When the car she was driving was stopped by police Sunday, authorities reportedly found cash and several articles in the vehicle.

The woman pleaded guilty before Police Justice John Morrison, who ordered her held pending sentencing. They were ordered held for grand jury action after arraignment.

youths are accused of burglarizing the VFW hall, Catskill Groceries and several area garages. Police also said they found a box of cigarettes and a portable phonograph which had been reported taken from the VFW hall, at Pagan's home. Other loot has been recovered.

Ennist, 21, of Box 50, Bloomington, who was booked for operating an unregistered motor vehicle and having no inspection certificate.

Teachers Lose Dues Check-off In Long Island

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A Long Island teachers organization has lost its dues check-off privilege for at least one year because it engaged in a one-week strike last May.

The state's Public Employment Relations Board ordered the penalty Monday after finding that the Associated Teachers of Huntington had violated the no-strike provision of the Taylor Law, which governs state and municipal employees' labor relations.

The board ruled the organization could not regain the privilege until it affirms that it "no longer asserts the right to strike against any government."

A PERB hearing officer earlier had found that the teachers group had engaged in a strike against Union Free School District No. 3 in Huntington last May 7-15.

"The threat of the strike and the strike itself were premeditated," the board said.

Sealab 3 Getting Ready for Trip To 600-Foot Pacific Ocean Bottom

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Cooper, 32, bureau of commercial fisheries, Ann Arbor, Mich. Sealab 3, a $10-million project, is the U.S. Navy's most ambitious attempt yet to add the world's submerged continental shelves—which range from a few miles to hundreds of miles in breadth—to its theater of operations.

Such depths are ideal hiding places for submarine refueling stations, missile launching sites and antisubmarine warfare gear. They also hold untold wealth in oil, minerals and scientific lore, exploitable when men learn to live and work for long periods at great depths.

Two earlier Sealab projects gave promise that it can be done. The teams will spend 12 days each at such various settings as an underwater trolley line, building a dry and heated hut on the sea floor, starting a lobster farm with succulent transplants from Maine, and training porpoises and sea lions to fetch and carry.

A day or two after Sealab 3 touches bottom, the first team will start descending in diving bells, called personnel transfer capsules, capable of carrying three to four men at a time. Members of the first team are Warrant Officer Robert A. Barth, 38, San Diego; Engineer I.C. Richard C. Bird, 31, Newton, N.J.; Aviation Ordnanceman I.C. Richard M. Blackburn, 29, Portland, Ore.; Berry L. Cannon, 33, and George B. Dowling, 42, civilian workers at the Navy Mine Defense Laboratory, Panama City, Fla.; Machinist's Mate I.C. Jay W. Myers, 24, Buffalo, N.Y.; Photographer's Mate I.C. John F. Reeves, 39, Ventura, Calif.; Lt. Cmdr. James Vorosmarti Jr., 33, Medical Corps, Palmerston, Pa.; and Dr. Richard A.

Pre-Christmas Release Date For 1,325 Air Guardsmen

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Another 1,325 Air National Guardsmen called up after the Pueblo crisis are due for pre-Christmas release from active duty with the Air Force.

The group was among 16,000 men activated in January and April, and most of them were scheduled to be released next April, May or June. Their release date is Dec. 20.

The latest men to get releases this year are members of three units, the 174th Tactical Fighter Group from Hancock Field, N.Y.; the 175th Tactical Fighter Group from Martin Airport, Baltimore, and the 189th Tactical Reconnaissance Group from Little Rock, Ark., and their components.

The previously disclosed early release of four other units totaling 1,042 men is set for Dec. 12, the Air Force also announced Monday. The units are the 82nd Aerial Port Squadron, Travis Air Force Base, Calif.; the 88th Aerial Port Squadron, McGuire AFB, N.J.; the 171st Aeromedical Airlift Group, Pittsburgh; and the 86th Aerial Port Squadron, McChord AFB, Wash. The moves left more than 13,000 air reservists and Air National Guardsmen mobilized early this year still awaiting dates for their release. They will be released between next April and June, according to previous Air Force announcements. Some individuals may get out sooner in special cases. Some 16,000 air personnel were called up earlier this year, 10,000 of them Air National Guardsmen. About 3,000 are now in Vietnam.

A Casual Pace for Sinatra

NEW YORK (AP) — "Francis Albert Sinatra does his thing" does seem to be a title of a show that is both arch and superfluous. But since Francis Albert does his thing—i.e., sing—very well, indeed, and since he brought some interesting performers along with him into our living rooms Monday night, it all worked out pleasantly.

The program, perhaps, lacked the class and dramatic simplicity of his first two specials and the musical impact of his show with Ella Fitzgerald. But there was plenty of singing by Sinatra, a couple of numbers by the decorative Diahann Carroll and more by The Fifth Dimension, a singing group with an interesting and sophisticated sound.

Small, Easy Jokes
The star moved easily from his opening "Hello Young Lovers" through a number of standards and lesser-known numbers. He made some small, easy jokes and joined Miss Carroll for some Negro spirituals. Then he worked with the singing group, all in the same light-hearted manner.

It was a show with a casual pace.

The CBS special was followed by the Carol Burnett Show, notable for a reunion of the star and her old colleagues, Garry Moore and Duward Kirby.

The three work nicely together—so nicely, in fact, one wished they had had better material for their sketches.

In the first, Moore and Kirby were dressed up as a pair of swinging old ladies visiting with Carol and Harvey Korman, who were doing one of their regular characterizations, the snappy old couple. The jokes, reaching for the double entendre more often than for witty repartee, were pretty dreary. Later, Carol and Duward engaged in a slapstick sketch in which Carol was knocked off her chair and stepped on. This took good timing by the two performers, but the sight of a man stepping on a girl's hand or pouring steaming coffee in her lap was more likely to make the viewer cringe in sympathy than roar with laughter.

Two Cartoons Going
NBC will drop two of its Saturday cartoon shows for children at the year's end, replacing them with a game show for youngsters and a filmed show about animals.

The first, "Storybook Squares" is a pint-sized spin-off on the day-time "Hollywood Squares." The second, "Un-Minutes," CBS, 10-11 EST, mag-tamed World," comes out of theazine format current events shop that put together CBS's na-show including an interview with Sen. Edmund S. Muskie.

Neighborhood Center Aids Nedy

23—THE KINGSTON DAILY FREEMAN, NOV. 26, 1968

A Saugerties man, requiring physical therapy at Benedictine Hospital in Kingston, was unable to receive the much-needed attention because he lacked transportation.

A young Saugerties mother, on welfare, wanted to get a job no one to care for her youngster.

An elderly Saugerties man, seeking U. S. citizenship, wanted to attend night classes in English but was not able. Transportation was his problem too.

A local high school youth was anxious to attend school but couldn't because his parents made him stay home and care for younger sisters and brothers while they worked.

Someone came to the aid of all these persons this past year—the Saugerties Neighborhood Service Center.

The man needing physical therapy is getting it because a local housewife is providing transportation. The man's wife is also being taught to give therapy and the trips may finally be eliminated.

The Saugerties mother is at work happily. Her young child is being cared for by another person—a person who needs the added income to keep herself above the poverty level. Two persons were therefore aided.

The man seeking English lessons is attending class and the young boy is back in school. A baby-sitter has been found to care for his brothers and sisters.

But there are more problems, old ones, new ones, cropping up everyday and the busy center tackles all it can handle with a great deal of aid coming from everyone from the housewife to representatives of schools, industry and lawmakers.

Never Short of Ideas

Just about 18 months old, the center never seems to run short of new ideas and innovations. Just recently it persuaded to town's two local bakeries to donate their day-old baked goods to be added to the food surplus allocated to needy families.

The center has enlisted the aid of such local industries as Ferroxcube Corp. which has been of great assistance to the year-old Senior Citizens group sponsored by the center.

The company has given turkeys away at the Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays and provides paper products and food for senior citizen meetings.

The Girls Community Club, with the assistance of the center is again clothing a number of needy little girls with completely new outfits this Christmas.

The Women's Club is adding its talents in promoting a diagnostic clinic for not only those on the poverty level but all citizens of the town.

Brownies, Girl Scouts Home Demonstration groups and churches are all pitching in wherever there is the greatest need.

The center itself, manned by two women, Carol Overbaugh in the office and Esther Walker in the field, is a place for anyone in need of help to come, to.

Elderly persons are able to get help filling out Medicaid applications there. Other persons, not capable of such things as arranging for their own surplus food applications are also aided.

Housing Requests

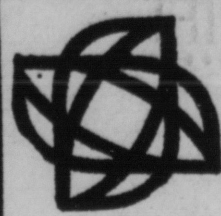

The center receives housing requests and has so far been able to place several families. It receives job requests too and was especially able to aid youngsters in need of work this past summer.

Governed by a board of more than a dozen, the center has at its helm a minister, housewife, truant officer, county legislator, councilman, planning board and chamber of commerce members, a guidance counselor and several members of the poverty group.

Serving on the board are: Daniel Lee, Kay Messersmith, Joan Keefe and Thelma Decker who coordinate the senior citizens activities, the Rev. Frederick Imhoff, Velma Wright, Yvonne Ostrander, Barbara Bonesteel, Ellen Ricks, Joseph Benjamin, Paul Brazier, Shirley McLaren, Roy Almqvist, George Turner and Elizabeth Hartfield.

Official name of England's Westminster Abbey is The Collegiate Church of St. Peter.

Christmas Story: Many Selections

The Saugerties Jaycees sponsored "Christmas Story," a musical produced for family entertainment and to enhance the holiday season, will include many special selections. An unusual presentation of "Parade of the Wooden Soldiers" done in toy-like fashion will have seemingly artificial soldiers dance on three-foot high wooden balls, an unusual feat.

Another ballet to be included will be Hans Christian Andersen's sad tale of "The Little Match Girl."

Langer's Pharmacy in Simmons Plaza, in Kingston at Kingston Music Center and at Abram's Music Store and in Woodstock at Schneider's Store.

Workshop Sessions Western-Style

A group of teen-agers met recently at the St. Mary's Church Hall in Saugerties to begin a series of western-style square dancing workshops for all young people in the area.

The caller and his wife, Al and Ginny Cappetti, reside in Knox, near Altamont. Cappetti began square dancing in Altamont with Bill Chattin, the original Altamont Station Squares, in 1964. He became interested in calling and took his calling lessons with Gloria Rios in Westfield, Mass. He then reactivated the Altamont Station Square, has graduated one class and a second class is now in progress. Al and Ginny are also members of the Latham Circle Squares.

Western-style square dancing is becoming very popular in the Hudson Valley. The Lefooters Square Dance Club, an adult dance group, dance every Friday evening at the Hurley Reformed Church hall, in Hurley.

Last Sunday, workshop was held. All young people in the area are cordially invited to attend future sessions.

The huge wooden balls are a collector's item having been given to directors Estelle and Alfonso by a producer who used them with the famous Rockettes. To try to duplicate just one of these highly crafted balls would be prohibitive as it must be done entirely by hand by a competent craftsman.

Also to be included in the show will be the Estelle and Alfonso Chorale, a group of youngsters professionally trained by Charles Mack for the holiday spectacle. The young voices will echo sentimental and lively harmonies to dramatically define the Christmas Season and to set the mood for a winter scene with snow-laden pine trees plus another tree which grows on stage till its base is 20 feet wide.

It is within this setting that the "Dance of the Snowflakes" from "The Nutcracker Suite" will be presented replete with falling snow.

Hat Parade Photographs By Homemakers

Photographs of a hat parade were taken for a club scrapbook at the last meeting of the Centerville Homemakers Club. Members paraded their hats and prizes were given for the funniest.

Katherine Helm presided at the meeting, held in the Saugerties Savings Bank.

In the morning a number of members took instructions on a variety of projects.

A Christmas party and entertainment was planned for Dec. 18 at 1 p.m. at the Sawyerkill Restaurant.

Jaycee Ballet Show on Dec. 8

27—THE KINGSTON DAILY FREEMAN, NOV. 26, 1968

A group of Saugerties Jaycees attended an invitational ballet presented by the Mid-Hudson Regional Ballet Company at the Poughkeepsie High School recently. It is the same company that will present the Christmas show in Saugerties on Dec. 8 at the high school auditorium. The Jaycees said they were highly impressed with the choreography of Estelle and Alfonso and are sure that those who attend the show in Saugerties will be rewarded with one of the finest, most elaborate and beautifully colored performances ever to appear in this area.

Tickets are available at: Smith's Hardware store in Saugerties, Langer's Pharmacy in Simmons Plaza, Kingston Music Center Albany Avenue, Abrams Music Store Wall Street in Kingston and at Schneider's Store in Woodstock, or they may be purchased from any Jaycee committeeman. Members of the committee are: Andrew Fairchok, chairman; Theodore Corea, Robert Brandt, Albert Treu, Clifford Harris, and Ralph Childes.

Performances will take place at 2 and 6 p.m. with doors opening exactly one half hour earlier. Due to favorable response, the committee recommends buying tickets in advance. If there are any seats available Dec. 8 tickets will be sold at the door. Patrons are being solicited. Those interested may contact Fairchok.

Major Frank Bloom, U.S. Army (ret.) was the guest speaker at the monthly meeting of the Saugerties Jaycees. He spoke on The Frustrations Of A Political War and gave an insight on life as a helicopter pilot in vietnam. Major Bloom is now the president of Mountain Airways.

Among the motions made and passed was one made to sponsor a blood bank night to help replenish the depleted blood supply in Ulster County. Further details will be announced.

The Jaycees have also decided to renew the subscription of the Sporting News sent to area men in Vietnam.

Any person wishing to become a member or visit a Jaycees meeting is invited to attend the next monthly meeting. They are held the third Monday of every month at the Flamingo Restaurant in Saugerties.
